- m46. This simple ring is dress-up with an attractive groove around the band and an elliptical channel setting. Shown with three fine round diamonds (.13 ct. tw.) for only $545.
- m47. We call this our "Fred" setting (shown in various sizes as m55, m56 & m57). This smaller version is a perfectly unpretentious way to show off the beauty of a single, fine stone. Shown w/ .25 ct. diamond, $840. With laboratory diamond, $440. {Mounting alone for your stone, $399.}
- m48. This diagonal design is shown w/ one row of colored stones in the center, surrounded by two rows of diamonds:
 A. .69 ct of deep green emeralds and .42 ct. tw. of fine round diamonds, $1605. B. Just over 1ct. of royal blue sapphires and .45 ct. tw. of fine round diamonds, $1145.
 C). 1.08 ct. of beautiful Burmese rubies and .53 ct. of fine round diamonds, $1670. D). 56 ct of dark amethyst and .42ct. of fine round diamonds, $1165.
- m49. The alternating rows of colored stones and diamonds make this ring stand out. Shown with .91 ct. of emeralds and 1/3 ct. tw. of round diamonds, $900.
- m50. This heavy ring is cast in white gold with yellow gold surrounding the five white princess cut diamonds (.45 ct.), a bold style for $1480. {With laboratory diamonds, $580.}
- m51. Yellow strips of gold lay criss-crossed over a rounded white gold band (reversed colors looks great too!). Set w/ three fine round diamonds (.12 ct.), $555.
- m52. The diagonal setting and grooves give this band some pizzazz. Set with three fine baguette diamonds (.19 ct.), $645.
- m53a-b. These rings make great conversation, and they're fun to play with as the diamond is free to slide back and forth in its channel setting {can also be set fixed in place}: A). Shown w/ 1/2 ct. round diamond, $2610. With laboratory diamond, $495. B) Shown w/ .15 ct. diamond, $595. With laboratory diamond, $345. C). Not shown: 1/4 ct. round diamond, $725.. With laboratory diamond, $395.
- m54a-b. A very popular setting that shows off the entire beauty of a stone -- select one of our fine stones, or reset one of your own. Shown as:
 A. 1 ct. spectacular diamond, $4,950. With high quality laboratory diamond, $525. B). 2 ct. fine Ceylon sapphire, $2495. {Call for availability and pricing of other stones, or use your own stone, mounting alone $380.}
- m55-57. Three variations of our "Fred" setting (see m47, for the smallest version). This ring has a bold masculine feel, and shows off any fine stone.
 Shown with:
- m55. An exquisite 2 ct. Colombian emerald set in the largest of the "Fred" settings, $1880.
m56. Another fine Colombian emerald (.80 ct.) set in a smaller "Fred" mounting, $825.
m57. 1.13 ct. fine sapphire in our medium "Fred" setting, $645.
m58. Two pieces cast separately make up this attractive design -- a yellow gold band, and fixed white gold center plate. Fine diamonds (.30 ct.) show up nicely in the white gold channel, $570. With laboratory diamonds, $395.
m59. A beautiful, fun design. The white gold is raised above the yellow gold band and is sandblasted for a nice contrasting finish. Shown w/ three round diamonds (.30 ct.), $875. With laboratory diamonds, $375.
m60. This two-tone band is made to look hinged and flexible at each joint. The top link is polished white gold and the shank is yellow gold with a sandblasted finish. Shown with a .09 ct. bezel set diamond, $395.
m61. The sandblasted (matted) finish with alternating "screw heads" and diamonds (.04 ct.) give this band a unique look, $245.
m62a-e. One of our newer styles, this simple rounded channel-set ring has been so popular we show it five different ways:
 A. With .30 ct. fine round diamonds, $580. With laboratory diamonds, $345.
 B. With the six colors of the rainbow flag in precious stones (ruby, Mexican fire opal, yellow sapphire, emerald, blue sapphire & amethyst), $325. {For other rings and jewelry incorporating the rainbow or triangle designs please see our Pride Collection and Supplement brochures.}

ETERNITY COLLECTION -W SIDE 1

10/06 prices subject to change without notice

RINGS 1-5, Tension Mounts. These incredible mountings hold various diamond shapes & sizes with the sheer tension of the band – cast from gold and a special mix of strong alloys. These solid and truly unique rings show off the entire beauty of a stone and can be mounted with our diamond, ruby, sapphire – or yours. Prices are shown w/high-grade fine white diamonds (G/H in color, VS2-SI1 clarity). Prices can vary depending on the quality of diamond you choose. {Please note: Because of our long-standing relationship w/ fine diamond dealers, our prices are very competitive, and we will work with you to meet your needs & budget. Also, extremely high-grade “lab-created” diamonds (not crystal or cubic zirconia) are available at a small fraction of the cost of natural stones; call for details and pricing.}

Shown with: (A) Black Onyx, 14k yellow gold band, $225.
(B)Sugilite, 14k white gold band, $225.
38. The purple inlay & purple gemstone (sugilite & amethyst) makes a very pretty combination for $375. Call for pricing of other inlay / gemstone combinations (refer to #21 for other inlay stones).
39. The two sides of this inlay ring can be attached (as shown), separated by a gap, or opened up to make room for just about any center stone. Shown w/black onyx, $265.
40. This heavy setting is completely flush mounted for a smooth, yet elegant style. Shown here with 3/4 ct. emerald & black onyx, $940 (refer to #21 for other inlay stones).
{Note: On each side, a small triangle is cut out to allow light under the center stone.}
41. As shown, the center channel holds 1.12 ct. of sapphires w/offset channels on each side holding .55 ct. tw of round diamonds, $1170.
42. Imagine the possibilities... This simple, elegant band can be set with any combination of inlay and gemstone. As shown w/opal (refer to #21 for other inlay stones) & 1/4 ct. fine princess cut diamond, $730.. (not shown: black onyx w/ sapphire, $290; emerald or ruby, $290.)

43. A bold design made elegant by the use of fine precious Burmese rubies. Shown with approx. 1 ct. rubies and black onyx, $655.
CUSTOM CHANGES & COLORED STONES: Because our rings are cast upon order, there is always opportunity for custom changes. We would like to remind you that most of the rings above can also be set w/ diamonds, and many of the rings listed below can be set with colored stones. If you like a particular setting, please call for pricing in the stones of your choice.
DIAMONDS: Rings are priced as shown with fine white (GH color) high quality diamonds (VS2-SI1 clarity). Prices can vary significantly with higher quality or lesser quality stones (available upon request). Also, extremely high-grade "laboratory created" diamonds (not crystal or cubic zirconia) are available at a small fraction of the cost of natural stones; call for details and pricing
44. Similar to #27, but a slightly wider setting with room for more fine white round diamonds (1.6 ct.), $1855.
 45. These rings make great conversation, and they're fun to play with as the diamond is free to slide up and down in its channel setting, Shown here with .15 ct. diamond, $400. (for larger stones, see #52.)
 46. A solitaire setting made extra special by adding a baguette bow-tie look. Center stone 1/4 ct., baguette diamonds .20 ct., shown in 18k gold for $875; in 14k for $880.
 47. Princess cut (square) diamonds neatly fill the channel of this wide, angled band (flat top with angled sides), w/ 3/4 ct. $1450. {Available with 1 ct. tw, $1925. and 1.65 ct. tw for $3995.}
 48. The first of several two-tone rings: this white gold channel setting compliments the 3/4 ct. of fine white baguette diamonds, with a raised yellow gold bar wrapped around the band, $1575. {note: Any ring can be cast in white, yellow or rose gold. Also, gold color combinations can be changed to suit your tastes.}
 49. This rounded band allows for a larger center stone surrounded by smaller round diamonds (1/3 tcw) with slightly raised bars at each end of the channel, $660.
 50. Similar to #49, with two smaller channels holding two rows of smaller round diamonds (.22 tcw), $310.
 51a-c. All three of these rings are hinged and flexible at each joint, or can be made solid but look flexible. (Two-tone avail. in all styles.)
 a. The top link is white gold and holds a single .09 ct. diamond for $330.
 b. A slightly larger top link allows for three diamonds (.11 ct.) set in a row for $406. (shown in yellow gold.)
 c. A slightly narrower band w/ one .06 ct. diamond, $295.. (Solid, made to look flexible.)
 52. Another sliding ring (like #45) w/ a wider channel to allow for larger stones. Shown w/ 1/4 ct. diamond, $750. Can be set with .15 thru 1.0 ct. diamonds & select colored stones, call for pricing.
 53. This channel set diamond band holds .12 ct., $210. (see #'s 66 & 67 for similar bands.)
 54. This band nicely shows three baguette diamonds (.26 ct.), set lengthwise in a separate center channel, $685.
 55a-b. One of our most popular, this "high tech" band (Actually three separate bands, which can be made as one, if you prefer.) has been done several ways: white & yellow gold, sandblasted or high polished finish, with or without diamonds – even 18k & platinum!
 (Also, for another popular "high tech" style, see the Band Collection #W-63.)
 Prices for 55a-b: As shown, w/ .18 ct. trillion diamonds, $560/As shown, without diamonds, $325/Centers only w/ .18 ct. trillion diamonds, $440/Centers only without diamonds, $195
 55a. White gold center (sandblasted) and yellow gold outer bands (polished). {Priced above}
 55b. White gold center (sandblasted) and white gold outer bands (polished). {Priced above}
 {Special note for #'s 56, 59 & 65: These white gold bands appear to have picked up the reflection of the surrounding yellow gold bands while being photographed. While they appear to have yellow gold designs on the band, they are actually plain, high-polished white gold.}
 56. This band is unique in its simplicity and stone selection, as one fine white baguette diamond is set in a simple high polished white gold band, $600. See #65 for round stone. (Please see special note above #56.)
 57. This ring holds .40 ct. baguette diamonds across the top, $730.
 58. Each step of this beautiful stair-stepped band is created by a fine princess cut diamond (3/4 ct. tw), $1610 (See #61 for larger baguette design.)
 59. A traditional rounded white gold band w/princess cut diamonds (1/4 ct.) around the top – bordered by raised yellow bars for a nice contrast, $665. (see special note above #56.)
 60. The sandblasted (matted) finish with alternating "screw heads" and diamonds (.04 ct.) give this band a high-tech look, $245..
 61. Similar to #58, but set w/ a large baguette diamond on each tier (1. ct tw), $1985.
 62. One of our finest rings, these high quality invisible set princess cut diamonds (.80 ct.) are channeled in 18k gold for $2168. {Please note: invisible setting allows maximum brilliance since each stone fits into the next in a "tongue and groove" fashion without any gold bars between them – it's stunning! This ring is available in larger styles with up to three rows of princess cut diamonds (call for pricing).}
 63. This beautiful curved row of baguette diamonds (3/4 ct. tw) costs $1635.
 64. This unique band has two long channels of princess cut diamonds w/ four rows of round stones across the top (3/4 ct. tw), $1330.
 65. Similar to #56 in its simplicity, one round diamond (.12 ct.) is set in this traditional high polished white gold band, $400. Of course, it can also be created in yellow gold & varying band widths. (See special note above #56.)
 66. A larger channel than #53 allows for seven round diamonds (.36 ct.), $560.
 67. Similar to #66, but w/ ten round diamonds (.55 ct.) for $1000.
 68. The channel of this band is cast in white gold and set w/princess cut diamonds (.68 ct.), w/two raised rounded bars in yellow gold on each end, $1440.
 69. Yellow strips of gold lay criss-crossed over a wide white gold band (reversed colors looks great too!) set w/three fine round diamonds (.12 ct.), $585.
 70. A beautiful way to add fire and brilliance to a solitaire setting, two rows of invisible set (see note at #62) fine princess cut diamonds totaling 1/2 ct. travel right under the raised center stone (3/4 ct.), $3310.
 71. A beautiful setting ready for your diamond or colored stone. The side by side vertical channels on this band create an elegant V of gold where the princess cut diamonds (.92 ct.) meet in the middle, $1875. (as shown, without center stone).
Please read these notes!!
SIZING: It is likely we'll be casting your ring to order (to the 1/4 size), so if you do not already know your ring size, we suggest you visit your local jeweler to be sized. If you are trying to surprise someone, and you don't know their ring size, please call us for suggestions.
PRICING: Prices are based on the current cost of gold per ounce, and are subject to change. However, we resist such changes unless absolutely necessary.
GOLD COLOR: We show most rings in 14k yellow gold. Unless otherwise specified, our rings are available in 14k yellow, white or rose gold; 18k gold; platinum; or any combination.
BAND WIDTH: The rings are pictured true to their actual size. In some cases, the same style can be done in different widths
COLORED STONES: We have access to a huge inventory of stones. Many of which can be substituted in the rings shown here. Regardless of how some stones photograph, please be assured we use extremely high quality stones.
RAINBOWS & PINK TRIANGLES: If you are interested in the rainbow & triangle designs (for rings or other jewelry), please refer to our Pride Collection and Supplement brochures.
CUSTOMIZATION: As you can tell from these notes, we love doing custom work using your photos, sketches, ideas, stones, existing rings, whatever. Modify our idea or come up with one which is uniquely yours.
LAY-A-WAY: Lay-a-ways are available, please call for more information.
